2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

1. Reference is made to the following document:

D1: US-B1-6 421 603 (HARTMANN GARY L ET AL) 16 July
2002 (2002-07-16)

2. INDEPENDENT CLAIMS 1 and 7

2.1 The present application fails to meet the requirements of PCT Article 33(1), since the subject matter of claim 1 does not comply with the criterion of novelty as defined by PCT Article 33(2).

D1 describes (the references between parentheses apply to said document) an aircraft flight safety method by means of which a flight plan is drawn up (column 3, lines 17 to 19), then the conflicts with the environment outside the aircraft are detected so as to form a safe route (figure 8). As described in D1, figure 9, the first segments only or the entire route (column 4, lines 17 to 19) are constructed and safety is assessed segment by segment, at any time and in any location (column 8, lines 46 to 49). For each segment, parameters relating to the area concerned are at the disposal of the aircraft. The method of D1 can therefore be described in three steps:

Box No. V	Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- the safety of the effective route of the aircraft is verified (figure 1);- the safety is verified relative to parameters acquired on board (column 7, lines 5 to 20):- assistance with regard to the conflicts is provided on board the aircraft (figure 9, 960).
2.2	The same argument applies, mutatis mutandis , to the subject matter of the corresponding independent claim 7, which is therefore not novel either.
3.	DEPENDENT CLAIMS 2 TO 6 AND 8 Dependent claims 2 to 6 and 8 contain no feature which, when combined with the features of any one of the claims to which they refer, defines subject matter that complies with the PCT requirements of novelty and/or inventive step. The step described in claim 2 wherein the safe route is determined in 3 steps is available to a person skilled in the art. This interactive process with the pilot is suggested in D1, column 2, lines 5 to 10. Similarly, the method steps described in claims 4, 5 and 6 wherein images and information presentation are overlaid, constitute routine practice that a person skilled in the art would foreseeably put into effect. Claim 3 relating to the safety of the effective route of the aircraft is described in figure 9 of D1.
